Malheur project, Oregon, contemplates the reclamation of land in Eastern Oregon near the Snake River, in the vicinity of the towns of Vale and Ontario. The irrigable tracts include about 40,000 acres of good bench land lying on the north and south sides of Malheur River. Two reservoir sites of sufficient capacity to retain all the flood water have been found on the stream, and have been surveyed.

Utah Lake, Utah, is, in effect, a large storage reservoir, catching the mountain flow and delivering it into canals. Unfortunately, however, the lake is too large for effective use, and losses by evaporation are far in excess of the amount put to beneficial use. An extension of irrigation in Salt River Valley is dependent upon the ability to reduce the loss by evaporation and to handle Utah Lake more effectively. The lands which will probably be included in this project are probably all in private ownership, and comprise about 70,000 acres.

The Big Bend project, Washington, contemplates the reclamation of a large body of land, surrounded partly by Columbia River, which flows along the northerly and westerly sides.

Lands in 154 townships have been withdrawn from entry pending an investigation of this project. A number of reservoirs in connection with this project have been discovered, and all public lands within their area withdrawn from entry for reservoir purposes. Considered as a whole, the Big Bend project embraces the largest area of irrigable land of any project under consideration by the government. Secretary Hitchcock has set aside $1,150,000 for the continuance of work on this project.

CHIEF ENGINEER OF CANAL.

JOHN F. WALLACE OF CHICAGO.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Admiral Walker, president of the Panama Canal Commission, received a telegram from John Findlay Wallace of Chicago, general manager of the Illinois Central Railroad, today, accepting the appointment of chief engineer in charge of the construction of the canal. Wallace was appointed by members of the Canal Commission for the position of chief engineer, said Admiral Walker. "No one stands higher in his profession, or is better equipped to take up the work than John Findlay Wallace, and the commission is to be congratulated in securing the services of such a man."

Wallace will take up his work with the commission June 1. He will arrive in Washington on or before that date, and for the present will have his headquarters in the commission's office in this city. It has not been determined when he will visit the Isthmus, all matters of detail being left for a future conference with the commissioners.

In regard to the sum to be paid to Wallace, Admiral Walker said that when a man undertakes to direct the construction of the Panama Canal project, it is necessary for him to burn his bridges, and that $25,000 is not too high for a man competent for so important a trust.

"Whoever undertakes that task gives up his business in this country, for it will require all his time on the Isthmus for an indefinite period," said the admiral.

HOW SELECTION WAS MADE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

CHICAGO, May 16.—During the recent trip of the Panama Canal Commissioners to the Isthmus, one of the subjects of discussion was the appointment of the chief engineer. It was agreed by every one that the man selected must be a man of exceptional qualifications, but not necessarily a man who, but an administrator and executive, must have mature judgment, and yet energy of accomplishment; must be well known and favorably known as a very great measure of the success of the commission would depend upon the chief engineer.

While the commission was at sea on the way to the Isthmus, a letter was written to Wallace, asking him to meet the commissioners in New York on their return, and talk over the matter. Subsequently there was correspondence with Stuyvesant Fish, president of the Illinois Central, who thus spoke of Wallace:

"There is no professional engineer in my acquaintance who, I think, has a higher degree than Mr. Wallace in the special commercial and diplomatic relations of the Isthmus. He may not have commercial knowledge of value of money, but, after all, he has a rare rare capacity in dealing with men, whether they be above him, his peers or below him."

Stuyvesant Fish was very unwilling to have Wallace leave the service of the company, but the appointment having been tendered, left the decision entirely with Wallace himself. In reaching the conclusion he accepted, Wallace gave up all prospects of promotion and a much higher salary than $25,000 a year, but, by taking the position of chief engineer of the Panama Canal his name will be associated with the greatest piece of construction ever undertaken.

It is estimated that about two years will be required to complete the surveys, make the estimates of cost and decide on the final plans. In round figures, the cost will be $200,000,000 and will require ten years to complete.

Awards from the engineers, machinists and other skilled labor, the constructive work will give employment of 50,000 men.

WAR REVENUE STAMPS.

REDEMPTION NEARLY ENDED.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Secretary of War, April 1, 1904, to the Postmaster General, and the entire system of the Illinois Central Railroad Company, have devolved upon Wallace for settlement. The twenty-three different labor organizations of the Illinois Central have always had the most implicit confidence in his decisions. As evidence of this it can be stated that they have never in a single instance opposed his recommendations to higher authorities since he became general manager of the road.

The appointment of Wallace as chief engineer of the canal means his practical residence on the Isthmus while the surveying is being done, and for the scene of his new work almost immediately, probably not later than the middle of June.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

John Findley Wallace was born at Fall River, Mass., and educated as civil engineer at Monmouth University, Monmouth, Ill., of which his father, Rev. D. A. Wallace, was founder and first president.

In 1869 he entered the service of the Central and Quincy Railroad as an engineer of survey for the Quincy, Alton and St. Louis Railroad. From 1871 to 1876 he was assistant engineer of the United States Engineering Corps at Fort Verde, Ariz., where he excavated a channel through the St. Louis chain of rocks by machinery of his own design. It is interesting to note that an earlier attempt was made to excavate a channel through this particular chain of rocks by the United States government, but the submarine expedition on that at that time was unsuccessful.

Among the pieces of work under Wallace's immediate charge was the removal of the foundation of the original Rock Island bridge, which was the first bridge constructed across the Mississippi.

In 1875 he was appointed chief engineer of the Morris and Farmington Railroad. This road was under construction and put in operation under Wallace's supervision from Peoria to Keokuk, and operated by him as superintendent. Later it was consolidated with the Iowa Central and Wallace had charge of operations as master of trains. At the time he was elected to the presidency of the railroad, he was in the winter, establishing uninterrupted haulage of traffic.

During 1887 he was employed by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road as bridge engineer, reporting to Octave Chanute, consulting engineer of the system, responsible for the work, controlling the Missouri River. Subsequently he was connected with E. L. Correll in general engineering work, with headquarters at Chicago. His principal work at this time was the construction of the joint entrance of the ditch to the Tarnet and Illinois Central lines into Chicago from the West, together with improvements of the Chicago and Alton terminal entrance. January 1, 1891, Wallace was employed by the Illinois Central to assist in handling the railroad transportation problem, and submit plans for taking care of this business and the general improvement of the terminal property of the Illinois Central. These plans were finally adopted by the railroad company, and Wallace was appointed chief engineer of the Illinois Central. During the seven years he occupied this position the Illinois Central property was practically rebuilt.

January 1, 1898, Wallace was appointed chief engineer of the St. Louis and San Francisco. While still retaining supervision over the engineering department, he was called upon to assist the second vice-president in the general supervision of matters connected with the operation of the railroad.

January 1, 1901, Wallace's title was changed to assistant general manager, and he was placed at the end of the operating department. In September, 1902, he was appointed general manager. He is chairman of the advisory committee of the joint stock elevation in the city of Chicago. His successor as general manager of the Illinois Central will be either A. W. Sullivan, L. G. Fawcett or W. J. Harahan.

PAYMENT FOR CANAL.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Of the $60,000 received yesterday by J. P. Morgan & Co. in payment of the Panama Canal properties, $15,000,000 has been withdrawn from the treasury, and the remainder held in the New York City National Bank. The $15,000,000 in cash was taken in five-thousand-dollar and ten-thousand-dollar gold certificates.

BEST SUGAR INDUSTRY.

(OFFICIAL FACTS AND FIGURES.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, May 16.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A report on the progress of the beet-sugar industry in 1903 prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture is about to be issued.

THE VERY LATEST. WAR NEWS AFTER MIDNIGHT.

PARIS, May 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Matin's St. Petersburg correspondent says it is persistently rumored that there has been a big fight near Mao Tien Ling Pass between the Russians and Gen. Kuroki's army. The Russians, he says, lost heavily, Lieut. Gen. Zasalitch being among the killed.

FINANCIAL COUP.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

TOKIO, May 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The general opinion here is that the Japanese loan is a financial coup, and that Japan is to be congratulated on entering into economic relations with Great Britain and the United States. Nevertheless, some slight regret is felt that the customs duties have been given as a security for the loan.

MONEY SHIPPED TO JAPAN.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

CITY OF MEXICO, May 10.—It is reported that last week over a million dollars was shipped to Japan via San Francisco, Japan paying a small premium over the London quotation for dollars.

"AX" AND KOUROPATKIN.

PARIS, May 11.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo de Paris says: "Vice-Admiral Skryloff and Vice-Admiral Bezobrazoff have been notified of the results of communication with Paul Arthur, so that they may attempt to reach that place. Military circles affirm that the relations between Viceroy Alexieff and Gen. Kuropatkin are strained, the former wishing to share in the planning of future operations."

SANK SEVERAL TRANSPORTS.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

PARIS, May 11.—According to the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Matin, a high officer of the Naval General Staff declares that the entrance of Port Arthur is still free, and that the squadron went out, May 9, as still as Pitsew was the war harbor.

ADVANCING BY DIVISIONS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SHANGHAI, May 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Japanese army in Manchuria is advancing in three divisions. One of these divisions, that holding Antung and Feng Yang, is moving toward Liao Yang. The second is moving from Lantien and Chuchuan to Yung Yang. The third division is pushing forward from Kuleicheng to occupy Kun Lien Hien, with the object of cutting Russian communications in the rear of the railroad.

LAND CLERK OWNS UP.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—During the Hyde-Dimond examination today J. J. Barnes, who for the past twenty years has served the Federal government in the Land Office Department, acknowledged receiving various sums of money from George H. Hyde.

Hyde sent the money in the letters without any reference to the amounts or than an X or a numeral on the margin to call attention to the amount inclosed. According to Barnes, it was of the most prominent Indian veterans in this State and it was partly through his agitation that recognition was secured for these veterans by the government.

Old Indian Fighter on Trial.

PORTLAND (Ore.) May 10.—The trial of T. A. Wood and his son, Hoses Wood, on charges of procuring false affidavits in order to secure fraudulent pensions from the United States, was commenced in the United States district court today. T. A. Wood is one of the most prominent Indian veterans in this State and it was partly through his agitation that recognition was secured for these veterans by the government.

White tracts will be fully discussed during the session.

The report of the Grand Master said that during the night eight subordinate lodges were instituted, due to the fact that the membership was 1348, making a total of 35,586.

Object to Surety Offered.

SAN JOSE, May 10.—John Roll, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, today rejected the bond of the United States Standard Votzlebacking Company on contract to deliver twenty machines, on the ground that the surety offered, the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company of Baltimore, was in trouble with the city of San Jose over the former Treasurer's bond.

PROF. STARE'S YELLOWISM.

The success of Japan over Russia will mean the ultimate supremacy of the yellow race and the final subjugation of the white. Every race has its day, just as every dog has his, and the day of the white race is about done. This is the conclusion drawn by Prof. Frederick Starr, the anthropologist of the University of Chicago, in a lecture before his class in anthropology.

TO COLORED METHODISTS.

Rev. M. M. Parkhurst W. B. Leach and W. E. Gilroe, representing the Ministerial Union of Chicago addressed the General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church today. Parkhurst advocated union declaring the Methodists could accomplish more united than by having so many branches. "Your bishops should be in Los Angeles with the same power as our bishops," he said. "You should have your own local organizations, separate and distinct, but for general work we should be united."

"DON'T BE A LAWYER."

ST. PAUL, May 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I advise you to keep out of the law. Lawyers need not necessarily be dishonest, but frequently a great elasticity of conscience is required. Many of you are too honest to be good lawyers." These assertions today from Dean William S. Pattie, dean of the law school of the University of Minnesota, created consternation among the 1100 law students who heard them. Dean Pattie, it is stated today, will be asked by the faculty to explain the purpose of his remarks.

LINCOLN (Neb.) May 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] E. Benjamin Andrews, chancellor of Nebraska University, has filed a complaint in which he alleges that his son, Guy C. Andrews, who mysteriously disappeared, is afflicted with delusions, and prays that the young man be taken into custody by the Sheriff. The son is 30 years old, and has been admitted to the bar.

PIKE OPENING.

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The recent announcement that the exposition authorities were seriously considering the possibilities of opening the "Pike" on Sunday is declared to be without foundation.

TO COLORED METHODISTS.

Rev. M. M. Parkhurst W. B. Leach and W. E. Gilroe, representing the Ministerial Union of Chicago addressed the General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church today. Parkhurst advocated union declaring the Methodists could accomplish more united than by having so many branches. "Your bishops should be in Los Angeles with the same power as our bishops," he said. "You should have your own local organizations, separate and distinct, but for general work we should be united."

Who and What Bryan Supports Shown in Indiana.

Paid Agents Hand Out Dirty Money, it is Charged.

New Jersey Republicans in Session at Trenton.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 10.—Exclusive Dispatch.—John W. Kern, Democratic candidate for Governor of Indiana in 1900, gave out an interview today in reply to W. J. Bryan's letter to Judge McCabe, in which Bryan attacked Judge Parker and the platform adopted by the Democratic State convention in New York. Kern said: "I would be glad to follow Mr. Bryan's leadership in this preliminary contest if I could do so conscientiously, and if he would point out the way, but he declines to name a man whose candidacy would be acceptable to him. Of course, everybody who knows anything of Mr. Bryan must be convinced that he is not for William H. Hearst. Mr. Bryan has declared over and over again that his candidate for President must be a man who believes in the principles of the Kansas City platform. Mr. Hearst has distinctly repudiated the platform and held it up to scorn and ridicule."

"Mr. Bryan has again and again defended for purity in politics. His magnificent address at Tomlinson Hall last January, in which he eloquently protested against the corrupt use of money has not been forgotten. William H. Hearst's campaign in Indiana or the Presidency has been so connected that it cannot escape censure in the part of those who do not believe in the corruption of money in paid agents. The dirty money in their hands are at this hour in this city, going about trying to bribe delegates to betray their trust. I am talking of that of which I have knowledge."

JERSEY REPUBLICANS MEET.
DEMOCRATS ARE EXCITED.

DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) May 10.—The Republican State Convention met at noon today to elect delegates to the national convention at Chicago. The temporary chairman, United States Senator Kean, delivered an address. He said, in part:

"Happily, we are not compelled, like our friends, the Democrats, to seek for an issue with a searchlight and for a candidate without a record or the gift of political speech. We have a policy and our policy is that which has always been the policy of the Republican party—the maintenance of our protective system and the honest and economical administration of the affairs of the government."

When Senator Kean had concluded the Committee permanent, nominated a committee in favor of the election of Senator Kean as permanent chairman. The resolutions were then presented and adopted. The platform endorsed the administration of President Roosevelt, the nation, Cuba, and Philippine policy is praised, and it is stated that under the administration conflicts between capital and labor have been peacefully settled; that the Negroes have been well treated, and forced without wounding upon corporations with honest purposes, and that dishonest officials have been driven from public office."

"There is no plan for an indirect nomination of President Roosevelt at Chicago. A protective tariff is advocated, as a policy that has brought the greatest prosperity to capital and labor."

After the adoption of the resolutions the following delegates-at-large were selected: Gov. Murphy, United States Senator Kean and Dryden and State Senator David Baird.

HITCH IN THE PROGRAMME.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

TRENTON (N. J.) May 10.—The only hitch in the programme was an unexpected objection to the election of the men who had been named for delegates-at-large. William Howland of North Plainfield objected in Baird in behalf of his country, Somerset, but on the roll call Gov. Murphy and Senators Kean and Dryden received every one of the 100 votes of the convention, and Baird received all the votes except six of the seventeen that were cast by him.

The alternates-at-large were elected without opposition. These were Secretary of State Dickinson, Senator McLean, Clarence Brackenridge and Griffin L. Lovell.

The platform adopted by the convention was a strong endorsement of the Republican national and State administrations and indirectly favored the nomination of President Roosevelt to succeed himself, although in keeping with the policy that has always prevailed in this State, the delegates were divided on the chit which developed into pluriel.

GUBERNATORIAL FIGHT.

REPUBLICANS AT TACOMA.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

TACOMA (Wash.) May 10.—The fight for the gubernatorial nomination of the State Republican Convention is remarkable for its strenuousness. There are eight or ten candidates. The convention will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The southwestern counties have combined for Collier of Lewis county for Governor, with the exception of the half dozen which refuse to enter the agreement. The northern counties form a Mead combination. King county and Pierce county steering committees met at 2 o'clock. The McBride delegates met this afternoon and have agreed to stand pat with their full strength.

COLORADO ELECTION TROUBLE.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

DENVER (Colo.) May 10.—In obedience to an alternative writ of mandamus issued by Judge Malone of the District Court, the Elections Commission today furnished Chairman Hodges of the Republican City Central Committee with a complete copy of the registration lists. The Republican chairman charged that the lists were being withheld from him. At the hearing before the State Board of Registration, Mr. John Morris, member of the commission, who is in the minority, testified that the registration books had been completed last Saturday. This was a refutation of the claim of the two Democratic members that the work of entering up the books had not yet been finished.

A report which to some has a peculiar ring has been published and is in circulation tonight. It is said that an order will be issued tomorrow for the first regiment of the National Guard of Colorado to mobilize near Denver on Saturday morning, May 27, the day before the city election. This is heard that an attempt will be made to steal the election by fraud, and there are those who believe that the guard is gathered together so near the city on election day, it will be no other purpose than to answer a call for aid in the suppression of fraud at the polls.

MEET AT NEW HAVEN.

CONNECTICUT REPUBLICANS.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

NEW HAVEN (Conn.) May 10.—The Republican State convention for the purpose of choosing delegates to the national convention at Chicago was called to order tonight.

The Committee on Resolutions drafted the platform, which is expected to be an adaptation of that presented to the Rhode Island Republican convention.

The county and Congress caucuses, which will select the delegates to the national convention, will be held tomorrow.

STATE CONVENTION FORECAST.

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 10.—Democratic leaders are gathering for the first session of the Democratic convention, which will meet Saturday to select delegates to the St. Louis convention and Presidential electors. An adjournment will then be taken until July 30, when a platform will be adopted and a delegate ticket nominated.

The 147 delegates to the State convention are estimated from 450 to 600 for Hearst and the rest for Parker. The party leaders say the convention will instruct for Parker and adopt the unit rule.

CONVENTION AT BIRMINGHAM.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) May 10.—The Republican State Convention met here this morning with an unusually large attendance. Notwithstanding the fact that the convention is controlled by the anti-Lily White element, it is believed that it cannot escape censure in the part of those who do not believe in the corruption of money in paid agents. FLORIDA STATE PRIMARY.

DEMOCRATS ARE EXCITED.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) May 10.—The Democratic State primary is being held throughout Florida today, in which nominations will be made for all important State offices, from Governor to justices of the peace.

The campaign has been one of the most exciting in the history of the State and many bitter words have been used on the stump. Today's primaries are equivalent to an election, it is said.

The purpose is to select four delegates-at-large to the national convention, one of whom is conceded will be a negro, name candidates for Presidential electors and nominate State officers. The convention will endorse the administration of President Roosevelt.

King Edward Writes Letter to Widow of Explorer and Papers Express Deep Regret.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

LONDON, May 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The morning papers publish editorials expressive of deep regret at the death of Sir Henry M. Stanley. The preference of Sir Henry M. Stanley to die in the service of the African swamps, which he attributed to a desire of fame, is praised, and it is stated that under the administration conflicts between capital and labor have been peacefully settled; that the Negroes have been well treated, and forced without wounding upon corporations with honest purposes, and that dishonest officials have been driven from public office.

THE GREAT WAR.

front up to this hour is that telling of the complete reestablishment of railroad and telegraphic communication with Port Arthur, though how it was brought about and whether a battle was necessary to accomplish it, are mysteries which Vicerey Alexeif failed to clear up.

The elation of the authorities over this achievement is sobered by official dispatches showing the activity of the Japanese in Eastern Manchuria.

Kuang Foreign Shan (Huai Ti Yang) 50 miles northeast of Feng Wang Cheng, was occupied by the Japanese, May 5. This enables an advance along the bad roads to the flank either at Liao Yang or Mukden.

The territory between the main road to Feng Wang Cheng and the River Taying has been penetrated by such a strong force of Japanese as to lead to the suspicion that another army has landed at Takemoto, of which the outside world has not been informed.

The Slav swings from pessimism to optimism as quickly as a pendulum, and Vicerey Alexeif's dispatch has produced a feeling among the people that the defense of the Yalu is an interruption of communication with Port Arthur, though how it was brought about and whether a battle was necessary to accomplish it, are mysteries which Vicerey Alexeif failed to clear up.

CAN BOLDLY MARCH UPON LIAO YANG.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

S. PETERSBURG, May 10, 3:36 p.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The fact has been impressed upon the Associated Press by a member of the General Staff that the Japanese are placing Southern Manchuria absolutely under control before beginning a forward movement, thus guaranteeing against threatened Cozack raids.

Whether Gen. Kuroki intends to move on Liao Yang and Haicheng has not yet developed, though action against the latter place does not now appear so probable in view of the dispatch of a force to Kunming.

The marching of the Asiatics are more general and are beginning to seriously alarm many of the leaders of European politics, who dread further complications. Moderation and caution are now the principal orders of the day for all European governments.

The Admiralty declares positively that the report of the destruction of the armored cruiser Rudik is false.

According to information received by the General Staff, the bridge blown up by the Japanese near Port Adams, Liao Tung Peninsula, has been repaired, and the permanent way is uninjured. Telegraphic communication with Port Arthur is not yet open.

It is rumored that Lieut.-Gen. Stoezel, commander of military forces at Port Arthur, has successfully engaged and driven off the enemy.

The General Staff has no confirmation of the report, and explains the withdrawal of the Japanese from the railroad as being either due to pressure from Gen. Stoezel or to the forces left by Gen. Kuropatkin at Kaiping and other points on the railroad.

While without definite information, the impression here is that the strength of the Japanese force landed at Pitsewo was overestimated, and that either it was strong enough to take charge of the railroad, or it moved eastward along the littoral to effect a junction with the Yalu army.

The Emperor received the news of the reopening of communication with Port Arthur, and seemed greatly pleased. "I had a message from Port Arthur an hour before," by pigeon post via Liao Yang, reporting that all was well at the fortress. As Gen. Stoezel has not reported the investment of Fort Dalny, the reports from abroad of its capture by the Japanese are now disbelieved by the General Staff.

The Admiralty heard today from Vladivostok Rear-Admiral Yuzen's squadron is there and reports all well.

It is pointed out by the chief of the Navigation Bureau that the Zafiro, was considered as a hospital ship, was a roomy naval transport, and was much more suitable for the accommodation of the wounded than the little Vicksburg, with her cramped quarters.

M. Pavloff insists emphatically that the reception was practised by the Japanese telegraph officials at Seoul in failing to transmit his official dispatches, which would have given him timely warning from St. Petersburg.

M. Pavloff insists emphatically that the reception was practised by the Japanese telegraph officials at Seoul in failing to transmit his official dispatches, which would have given him timely warning from St. Petersburg.

The correspondent of The Times at Tokio says it appears that the capture of Feng Wang Cheng was effected, not by the troops which fought on the Yalu, but by a mixed brigade under Maj.-Gen. Sasaki, which, marching eastward, April 20, crossed the Yalu at Cheng Seng and moved on Feng Wang Cheng by a mountain road.

The correspondent says that Gen. Kuroki has issued a general order forbidding the troops to fire on the Chinese, who were not fighting against the Chinese, maintaining the Russians, and insisting on the utmost consideration of the Chinese, who had been reduced to a pitiable condition by the presence of the Russian forces and were now obliged to endure the passage of the Japanese army.

The same correspondent says that the sole object of the Japanese foreign loan is to secure a gold currency system and maintain the convertibility of notes. The loan will not be used to finance the war, and therefore the entire proceeds will be kept as a currency reserve, probably in London.

BUSINESS.

The Chicago wheat market was steady, and closed without support, at $8 for May. Activity in Consolidated Gas saved the New York stock market from the smallest aggregate of transactions for the year.

A WRECKING CREW'S WORK.

A particulars are given in a dispatch from Chicago of a rather unique exploit by trades-unionists of that city, by which they managed to indicate their "disapproval" of the employment of non-unionists in a manner somewhat unusual but not generically unique. "A Chicago labor-union wrecking crew," according to the dispatch, on Sunday night "evaded, police and special officers at Morgan Park and demolished the interior of the handsome residence of A. B. Heller, just completed by independent workmen. Every vestige of the interior woodwork." It is added, "was wrecked with axes and chisels."

Morgan Park, as most people know, is a suburb of Chicago. There are no labor unions in Morgan Park, but because of threats of violence from Chicago labor-union thugs, the non-union carpenters employed on the Heller building carried arms and were sworn in as special officers to protect themselves in case of necessity. The union thugs took good care not to go up against men prepared to protect themselves, but sneaked in under cover of darkness, when the building was deserted and unprotected, to commit their dastardly acts of vandalism.

It is difficult to characterize such an outrage as this without using language which might be construed as offensive. These union vandals had not the remotest right to enter the premises at all. They lived in an adjoining town, and had no claim whatever upon the owner and builder of the house, who had a perfect right to employ non-union men, if he saw fit, to do the work. The wrecking of the house was prompted by motives of the most malicious that can be conceived, and it was a crime which ought, in justice, to send each of the participants to the penitentiary for a term of years, if their identity can be fixed.

Wanton destruction of property is only a degree less heinous than the taking of life. Both are serious crimes against the peace and well-being of the community; yet labor unionists are frequently guilty of one or the other of these crimes, or of both. This is a fact so familiar and so well established that it need not be dwelt upon. The frequency with which trades-unionists resort to nearly all crimes against the peace and well-being of the community; yet labor unionists are frequently guilty of one or the other of these crimes, or of both. This is a fact so familiar and so well established that it need not be dwelt upon.

In crushing the Hays gang, as was done in the Republican convention yesterday, the good people of Riverside have done exactly what it has been believed they would do at the first opportunity. Yesterday the Republican party was given a chance to purge itself of corruptionists and crush the infamous gang headed by the bank wrecker and his lieutenants. And their task was well and faithfully performed. The convention was not in the slightest degree tainted with Hayism, and its action must be accepted as final notice to grafters, political conspirators, official corruptionists, and rascals generally that Riverside is done with them, emphatically, and for all time.

THE PEACE OF JERUSALEM. There can be no doubt that, when the old spirit of militant antagonism against the Roman Church flamed up in Monday's session of the Methodist General Conference, a feeling of sincere regret went over the whole country, and the whole world, as well. Methodists themselves will regret it, perhaps, the most of all. Doubtless Catholics have been pained by it, and it is a certainty that Christian denominations unaffected with either Catholicism or Methodism will not view the incident with any degree of pleasure. Crimes similar to, for all intents and purposes, to those of warfare against society, is rightly serving to bring public condemnation upon organizations which countenance such criminal practices. Crimes similar to, for all intents and purposes, to those of warfare against society, is rightly serving to bring public condemnation upon organizations which countenance such criminal practices.

Unfortunately, those who perpetrate such crimes too often escape punishment, through the laxness of subservient courts and executive officials. But this fact does not mitigate the enormity of their offense, nor the severity of public condemnation.

The verdict of public condemnation is just. Trades-unionism has brought this verdict upon itself by reason of its multifarious crimes and misdemeanors. Sooner or later, public opinion will do one of two things for trades-unionism—reform it or crush it.

HOPE WHERE HOPE HAD FLED. Missourians in California who have not heard from "home" lately will be surprised and possibly shocked to learn that in all human probability that old Democratic State will be Republican in November next. The reasons for such assumption are not voluminous or partisan. They rise out of conditions created alone by the Democratic party of Missouri, and the prospect of defeat is just as real and visible to that organization as to the hitherto handful of Republicans who have been fighting their ancient enemy so long and so hopelessly.

Circuit Attorney Folk of St. Louis has been prosecuting legislative and municipal bidders with almost inexorable disregard of Democratic persons. He has invaded the camp of the State machine itself and insisted that a big Democratic bidder was no more entitled to leniency than a little Democratic bidder. Such political blindness could only result in antagonizing the State machine to any aspirations which Mr. Folk might have for himself. On the other hand, it attracted to his support the mass of Missouri Democratic voters, the "common Democrats"—and it must be confessed that some of the Democrats in that State are dreadfully "common."

should be anything but the best of friends in their organizations, as they are in their individual relations to each other as neighbors and Americans. Therefore, The Times, not being a fighter—just now—in a spirit of friendliness and with deep respect, exhorts these good folk, and all men, besides, to dwell in peace and unity with each other. Let us go forth in love and charity for "the peace of Jerusalem." And, that we may the better see the way, let us repeat with reverent enthusiasm the beautiful words of the 122nd Psalm:

"Our feet are standing
Within thy gates, O Jerusalem:
Jerusalem that art builded
As a city that is compact together.

Pray for the peace of Jerusalem:
They shall prosper that love thee.
Peace be within thy walls,
And prosperity within thy palaces.
For my brethren and companions' sakes.

I will now say, Peace be with thee.
For the sake of the house of the Lord, our God
I will seek thy good."

RIVERSIDE STANDS FAST.

The results of yesterday's Republican County Convention at Riverside are very gratifying to all good people, not only those directly concerned, but all others who have been anxiously waiting to see what would be done with the Riverside gang. The first and most important action of the convention was the complete, unqualified, and decisive repudiation of the Hays gang. Hays himself was not present—a fact which shows that he and his supporters had not, in the last resort, the hardihood to do that which they had threatened to do. From start to finish the convention was strongly anti-Hays in everything. Senator Bard was enthusiastically endorsed, and the convention nominee for Assemblyman was squarely instructed to vote for his reelection. This action practically places Senator Bard directly before the State for reelection, and adds that much more to the strength of his position. Miguel Estudillo, a strong anti-Hays man, was nominated for Assemblyman by an overwhelming majority. Harry Bantz, another opponent of the Hays crowd, was nominated for Supervisor in the Third district. A. P. Johnson defeated Frank A. Miller for the nomination for delegate-at-large to the State and Congress conventions by a large majority, because Miller's soundness appears to have been doubted by the convention. George Frost was named as the delegate-at-large to the Senatorial convention between Orange and Riverside counties. Congressman Daniels, whose name was included with others, received an oblique endorsement. State Senator Caldwell and his course in the Legislature were strongly endorsed, and a resolution was adopted asking Orange county Republicans to accept his candidacy.

It is already apparent that the working Democrats, who have given up hope of defeating Folk for the nomination, will unite to defeat him for election. Their own political existence depends upon his defeat. The election of a Republican is now their sole aim and hope. To defeat Folk after his nomination will strengthen the Democratic State and county machinery and give it another chance, while, if Folk is elected, this machine will pass forever out of power, giving place to Folk's own personal friends, who will constitute a new machine. The active Democrats of Missouri are declaring they will meet the emergency by "going fishing" on election day, leaving St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph to give large Republican majorities and thereby turning the State over to the Republican party. For once in their lives they will be engaged—unwittingly, perhaps, but none the less surely—in a work of patriotism unusual in that old Bourbon State.

WHICH DOES THE COUNTRY PREFER? If the Constitution will be patient until the votes are counted in November, it will be given a very emphatic and vivid answer, which will demonstrate that the particular brand of national administration offered by Mr. Roosevelt and the Republican party is just what the country has wanted and will have.

A Denver man has sued the owners of the Glenwood (Colo.) mineral Springs for $5000 damages because, after drinking the mineral water, he lost his thirst for whisky. Any agent who attempts to introduce that brand of mineral water into Kentucky takes his life in his hands.

When the real Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch threw slop at persons who peered into her yard she was probably not aware of the seriousness of her offense. Only publishing houses are allowed to do such things.

A southern contemporary arises to ask what President Roosevelt will do next. The consensus of opinion seems to be that his next important move will be a return trip to the White House.

Let it be distinctly understood, however, that residents of Breathitt county, Ky., are not eligible to participation in the benefits of the Carnegie hero.

If he had been named alone he would almost certainly have failed of endorsement, so strong is the belief in his district that he is a dead one.

The endorsement of Senator Bard was a merited recognition of splendid ability and excellent work in Washington. It was enthusiastic, unequivocal and for all time.

Congressman Daniels, although he received the nominal endorsement he asked, can find small gratification in it. It wholly lacked spontaneity and enthusiasm, and the silence which greeted the mention of his name was indicative of anything but intention to support him again for Congress.

If he had been named alone he would almost certainly have failed of endorsement, so strong is the belief in his district that he is a dead one.

Amid all this confusion of Democratic candidates what has become of Senator Gorman? Did he collapse with the McClellan boom, or has he decided to become the darkest horse in the great stable of dark horses? Or maybe the Senator thinks this is not a good year for the Democratic nomination to the Senate.

NO WONDER THE GROWER GETS NOTHING BUT BILLS FOR FREIGHT.

"Which does the country prefer?" If the Constitution will be patient until the votes are counted in November, it will be given a very emphatic and vivid answer, which will demonstrate that the particular brand of national administration offered by Mr. Roosevelt and the Republican party is just what the country has wanted and will have.

A Denver man has sued the owners of the Glenwood (Colo.) mineral Springs for $5000 damages because, after drinking the mineral water, he lost his thirst for whisky. Any agent who attempts to introduce that brand of mineral water into Kentucky takes his life in his hands.

When the real Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch threw slop at persons who peered into her yard she was probably not aware of the seriousness of her offense. Only publishing houses are allowed to do such things.

A southern contemporary arises to ask what President Roosevelt will do next. The consensus of opinion seems to be that his next important move will be a return trip to the White House.

Let it be distinctly understood, however, that residents of Breathitt county, Ky., are not eligible to participation in the benefits of the Carnegie hero.

If he had been named alone he would almost certainly have failed of endorsement, so strong is the belief in his district that he is a dead one.

The police worked up a smooth plot for the purpose of entrapping Chinese visitors of the lottery laws last night and successfully raided a den on Sanchez alley commonly known as Suey's place. So suspicious and wary were the celestials, however, that entrance was only effected after heavily barred doors had been battered down with a sledge hammer.

For many weeks the police have suspected that Lynn Yip, a well-known Chinese gambler, was conducting a lottery outfit at the Suey place, but it was a very difficult matter to secure evidence that would convict. Yesterday one of Capt. Auble's men succeeded in buying a lottery ticket, and later, in passing the barred door when the drawing was in progress. When the excitement of the game was at the height, police piked up the door and whistle and Capt. Auble with Patrolman Royd stormed the door. The Chinese refused to open it, while wildly endeavoring to get all evidence of the lottery game out of sight, but the officers forced an entrance and caught
Lynn Yip with a large sum of money.

The
of Steinway

For generations the march of progress in piano construction has been led by the house of Steinway & Sons. Its product is universally acknowledged to be beyond all competition. The world's greatest masters have found expression of their most sublime thoughts in the Steinway Piano, and the grandeur of its achievements received the grateful recognition of artists of the world over. It has been the proud object of encomium in every known tongue, through all the years of its history, replete with success along every line of science and mechanism, endeavor to wrest from it the position of pre-eminence it has met with failure. In the arts of the world the Steinway Piano is the instrument recognized as meeting the exacting requirements of artists. Steinway & Sons have received appointments as manufacturers to the leading rulers of the world, and their instruments are in constant use in many imperial households.

WILL HE WIN MRS. SINGER?

Inventor Smyth Says He is Engaged to Her.

ceasing, that she "had been troubled much by his attentions, for he is a grand man," and that "she does not know what to do."

This announcement made by Mr. Smyth to a dozen or more friends in Pasadena has created the greatest social stir of the day, and in Los Angeles, Mrs. Singer being well known in both places, the name Singer being a household word throughout Europe engagement. A magnificent silver watch case, studded with jewels, was slipped from his pocket and shown as Mrs. Singer's engagement gift to him.

He received the warmth of congratulations, and everybody tried not to tell. But when Monday night came, the secret was out, and the Hotel Green for the summer—some of these friends got together in the lobby and the story leaked out. High opinions

ACCUSED HERETICS ON THE AGGRESSIVE

Fight Over "Higher Criticism" Fairly Started in Conference.

Important Meeting of Education Committee—Last Night's Missionary Demonstration One of the Most Remarkable of the Session—Cheers for Truman D. Collins by Great Throng.

Every conference district in the world is represented on this committee, including those in China, Japan, India, and Africa, and the foreign representatives are always present at the meetings, making it one of the most interesting in the conference as a place for studying people of many nations.

Dr. J. F. Goucher, chairman of the Ohio delegation suggested that the question be settled in open committee rather than be referred to the usual sub-committee, and pointing his finger at the Evangelist Marshall, expressed the conviction that this brother should lead off with accusations and complaints and be followed by some old defendant, and the theological schools.

"Mailed Knights" stood by the arena, and fight it out in the crowd.

"But this ringing challenge met no response. Prudence dictated secrecy, and men were to be dismissed, as well as books and institutions. The sub-committee was exalted into a court of investigation, and from far and near witnesses may be gathered, and a fair hearing extended to all. At least two of the sub-committees have made their own ideas and views very plain. The chairman, Dr. Emory Miller of Iowa, declared openly the other day in conference that he had told the general conference "we had enough time to elect to the baptismal font who would not attempt to discuss and decide critical questions of Bible study, which they themselves had not fully investigated. This denied his own statement and called to remembrance that a certain aged bishop is now president of the Baptist League that is stirring up the trouble."

Dr. Charles S. King of Brooklyn, another member of the history-and-genealogy committee, in the proceeding said under whose guidance the recent trial of Prof. Edward P. Boggs was held, it was felt that no memory was too dim to be allowed to stand trial, but Boston University, with whom he had his ecclesiastical counsel, the professor was unanimously acquitted, and the New York East Conference felt itself so outraged by such an uncharitable trial that it was decided to let the trial of Prof. Boggs stand, wherefore a minister may be defended from unnecessary trial according to the whim or prejudices of some one who was sensitive enough to take such action. Yesterday in the sub-committee the whole matter was fully discussed.

Persons and names will be summoned, and a bitter fight will be on in the committee and conference. The committee will take a stand on the attitude of America as to full liberty of opinion on all essentials will be submitted and perpetuated.

Rev. Dr. Charles J. Little, president of Garrett Biblical Institute, in which Rev. Miller of Texas is a student, and under fire for advanced views, says: "Garrett Biblical Institute is under the control of the General Conference through the board of bishops. They are a conservative lot, but they have never disapproved a minister. The Board of visitors take in my annual conference to the number sometimes of forty or fifty, and usually with the greatest and have always been pleased with the work done. Its teaching is sound and its action in the field of missions, the advocacy of a missions cause, be tried by a General Conference. His question like that of private character can be investigated, and if he is guilty, he should be foiled for anyone to propose for an instant that any minister will be arraigned here this month. The constitution of the church guarantees a free and impartial trial, and this in the church's own conference."

In history, This identical hammer has lain down at the time, and it has since been preserved by his descendants and is now the property of Dr. Russell of Edinburgh, Scotland. It was sent to Los Angeles by express to become a part of the great missionary exhibit of the conference. In using it as a gavel to call the session to order, Dr. Carey's hammer was actually heard by the nations of the earth, and Dr.

HERO OF HOUR. MISSIONS' FRIEND.

TRUMAN D. COLLINS GAVE HUNDRED THOUSAND.

Cheered by the Echo by Last Evening's Great Concours of People. Hung About Bishop McCabe's Neck and Said Nothing—Wonderful Mission Rally.

A modest, retiring man was dragged out before the vast audience at the missionary meeting at Howard's Pavilion last night, and lauded as the hero of the hour—the hero of the greatest missionary meeting this country and possibly the world has ever known.

Two years ago at the great Cleveland meeting, Truman D. Collins, for that is the name of this unassuming idol of Methodism, gave the magnificent sum of $100,000 to the missionary cause.

Last night thousands of people in the auditorium jumped to their feet at the mention of his name, and amid the waving of handkerchiefs and the clapping of hands, cheered him to the echo, as he stood pale and trembling with his arms clasped tightly around Bishop McCabe's neck.

Not by word or gesture did he recognize the great honor the people were showering upon him; but when the dreaded ordeal was over he sank back into his chair with a sigh of relief.

Bishop Joyce had just complimented Bishop McCabe upon the handsome donations he had made while bishop of South America.

"Vanderbilt would give $100 to missions," said Bishop McCabe in reply, "it would be heralded around the world. If an Astor should give $100 to the church he would be lauded and honored and magnified for his beneficence. But we have here tonight a man who gives $100 to missions. He is the greatest giver to missions in the world. Do you wish to see him?"

(Cries of yes, yes.) Two brothers led him out on the platform, where the people standing, and as they did so the congregation arose in a man, and gave him a magnificent ovation.

Bishop McCabe introduced Bishop Warren of Denver as the first speaker of the evening. Bishop Warren took up the story of the "Great American Missions." It was an eloquent oration on the growth of this country, and the wonderful power it has exerted for the betterment of humanity wherever it has gone. "The world has gone. Those who have gone," said he, "are people who have come in contact with us have been immeasurably benefited and blessed."

"The atmosphere, president of the Methodist Church in Latin America, told of the progress in the Dark Continent. "The mystery and darkness are breaking away," said he, making it now the center of interest and hope."

"That must be a problem of our concern," said Bishop McCabe. "We have educated 16,000 colored men in our colleges, and not one of them has ever been guilty of a felonious crime. What shall we do with the colored race?"

Then came Dr. A. E. Leonard of New York, missionary secretary, and author of the "American Missions," said he, "The Methodist church in this country was founded as a mission. And let it be remembered as a foreign mission. We had the first episcopal in this country. We have come into the right of national sovereignty. We have driven what was the frontier twenty-five or thirty years ago across the continent and into the Pacific Ocean."

"In 1850 we gave $1,500,000 for home missions, and this country alone that year gave a grand total of $12,000,000 for the missionary work." (Great applause.)

Bishop Joyce, recently from South America, told of the work in that field. He said there were four colleges with nearly 100 pupils in his district. "You

CLOTH AND THE PEN MAKE HAPPY HIT.

THE reception which the Daily Christian Advocate has met at the hands of the delegates and officials of the General Conference is most flattering to the management.

Comment has been made, both in public and in private, concerning the unusual excellence of the publication, both in relation to its value as a record of events in the conference, and as the purveyor of valuable information in general concerning things per-sion of the conference was occasioned by Rev. Dr. E. W. S. Hammond, dean of the theological seminary at Walden University, Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Hammond and his colleagues in coming to this City of Angels, found that instead of being warmly welcomed, as befitting the occasion, they had fallen into the hands of the Philistines. In protest he offered his resignation.

"Whereas, certain hotels and restaurants in this city have refused to serve meals to delegates thereby subjecting them to very great inconvenience, to say nothing of the humiliation and shame incident to such discrimination; and

"Whereas, such conduct is not in harmony with the well-known spirit and sentiment and genius of the Methodist Episcopal church; and

"Whereas, the general and local wards on interdenominational basis have rendered excellent service, and we believe are in no way responsible for this strange treatment of their colored guests; it is hereby

"Resolved, that the General Conference, in its capacity of superannuated bishop, but basely and unqualifiedly condemning it as unwise, unjust and un-Christian."

In speaking to his motion, Dr. Hammond made a masterly plea for his people, bespeaking for them loyalty and devotion, even through humiliations and oftentimes oppression.

SCHOOLS AND ROMANISM.

Emphasis in its relation to the public-school system was again to the fore yesterday. Throughout the conference there is a strong sentiment against the attitude of Roman hierarchy, so persistent in demanding a division of the public-school funds. Voicing the sentiment of his entire delegation, Rev. Dr. F. C. Smith of Wisconsin offered the following resolutions:

"Whereas, we recognize in the public-school system one of the chief bulwarks of the republic and the necessary and efficient groundwork for our educational system as a class; and

"Whereas, in our country there is an avowed and relentless foe to our public-school system in the claims and purposes of the Roman Catholic church by which she demands the division of the public school funds for the support of her schools, declared by her authority that the only solution of the public-school question is the denominational school supported by the State; therefore,

"Resolved, that we declare our unswerving loyalty to the public-school system;

"Resolved, that this General Conference petition the next Congress of the United States to enact an amendment to the Constitution forever prohibiting the division of the public-school fund for the support of denominational schools."

"Resolved, that the General Assembly of other Protestant bodies in this country be invited to unite in this petition."

The matter was referred to the Committee on the State of the Church.

PLAN FOR BISHOPS.

With a view of assuring the position of the superannuated bishop, Rev. C. Johnson of West Virginia introduced a measure asking the Committee on Episcopacy to evolve some plan fixing their status, providing for such service as may be consistent with health and strength, thus robbing retirement of some of its objectionable features.

A communication was read from Bishop Thoburn, who was detained at Vancouver because of a broken limb. The letter stated that the injured member was mending rapidly and that the bishop hoped to leave his bed within two weeks.

PRESBYTERIAN.

Dr. Rader, the assistant editor, is pastor of Trinity Church, Albany, N. Y., and he, too, was at one time connected with the publication of the Rocky Mountain Christian Advocate at Fort Collins, Colo., and originally was gained as publisher of the Rocky Mountain Christian Advocate, and in 1895, as a member of the General Conference of that year, he was made a member of the Board of Directors.

LOCAL BEAUTY'S HIT AS A STAGE WIDOW.

A DAY or two ago Miss Carroll McComas, the talented girl from Los Angeles, made her debut on Broadway New York as one of the "Venerable Brides," and as this new opera has made a decided hit it is needless to say that it is a big start for a young girl today.

"The Three Widows" are the "piece de resistance" of the opera.

Miss McComas is a daughter of Judge and Mrs. C. C. McComas of this city. When she was on the Orpheum stage some years ago Frank L. Perley, who brought Alice Neilson out, discovered her and put her in tables, and since she has been in the work of many well-known organizations. It may be said that Miss McComas is the youngest member of the company to which she belongs. Since she has left Los Angeles she has grown to a large and graceful figure.

Mrs. V. Little of No. 2739 Budlong avenue entertained yesterday at luncheon in honor of Miss Almina McMullan, and Miss Adelaide Bindley of Pittsburgh. The large room in the dining-room contained a pink rose basket of the blossoms forming an artistic centerpiece, while bowls of pink roses added to the effect. In the living room there were small tables set and sprays of Ragged Robin roses in great beauty and grace to the arrangement. Covers were laid for Mrs. Scott Helm, Mrs. Lyman Helm, Mrs. Elizabeth Prewitt, Mrs. Stephen W. Dorsey, Mrs. Clifford Page, Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, Mrs. George Kress, Mrs. Joseph Green, Mrs. Charles Drury, Mrs. John C. Oldham, Mrs. Edward D. Silvert, Mrs. John McKinney, Mrs. A. G. Wells, Miss Davenport, Miss Anna Johnston, Miss Clarkson, Miss Kata Jackson of Oakland, and Miss Evelyn Prewitt.

To Leave Wednesday.

Mrs. W. D. Babcock who has been appointed a delegate from the Friday Morning Club to the Biennial Convention in St. Louis, leaves this evening for the East. After the convention Mrs. Babcock will go on to New York where she will meet Dr. Babcock. They will return in July.

Member of Band Married.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock Miss Leesa Von Poser became the bride of Gottlieb Domrowski, the Rev. Herbert J. Weaver performing the ceremony. The wedding took place at the home of the minister, No. 1601 West Eighth street. Mr. Domrowski is a member of the Catalina band, and after a short honeymoon the young couple will make their home at No. 329 West Vernon avenue.

Pictures Accepted.

There have been two artists from Los Angeles, whose pictures have been accepted by the National Association are Granville Redmond, and Benjamin Brown. News also comes that J. Henry Sharp's portrait of an Indian which he submitted has been accepted. Mr. Sharp is from Cincinnati, and is sojourning for a few weeks in this city.

Notes and Personals.

Miss Inez Clark left yesterday for a month's visit to friends in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Bagley leave this morning at 7 o'clock for a six months' eastern trip including the St. Louis Exposition. Mrs. Bagley has already secured offers from eastern managers, and will look into them, with a view later of taking up her professional career which she resigned temporarily.

J. E. Dunlop of No. 207 Hoover street, left yesterday for a six months' trip in Europe. The trip is a business one and he intends visiting Edinburgh and Liverpool during his stay.

The Misses Oliphant who for some time have been in Europe, and who are now back in America, will stay in one week from Belfast for the United States and California. They intended going to Manila to visit their brother, but on account of the ill health of Miss Genevieve they will come directly to the United States.

Jud Seager of South Hill street, left yesterday for New York and other points of interest for a six months' visit.

BRIGHTENING WOMEN'S LIVES.

WHAT THE WORKERS OF Y.W.C.A. ACCOMPLISH.

Enthusiastic Gathering on the Occasion of the Anniversary Dinner—Miss Cora Tatham, the General Secretary, Presents a Most Encouraging Report.

The anniversary dinner given by the Young Women's Christian Association last evening was a jubilation, for not only were the ardent supporters and members of the association cheered by the report from the general secretary, Miss Cora L. Tatham, telling of the progress, almost beyond belief, of this pride of our local associations, but they were fortunate to number among their guests representatives of the same work from all over the land, who gave messages of encouragement and reported the progress of other branches of this same great sisterhood.

Over two hundred people sat down to an elegant repast in the large dining-room of the association, which had been made bright for their coming with a wealth of golden mustard that spread its yellow glory, typical of the good cheer and sunshine which the association promotes, throughout the spacious apartment. The tables were decked to carry out the same idea and showed the favorite flower of the sunshine society, the coreopsis, laid lightly upon the white cloths of the dining-room.

After the meal, a report of the year just left, belonging to be given by Miss Cora L. Tatham.

Miss Tatham read some vital statistics which in themselves were most gratifying, telling as they did in round numbers, the amount of work that was being accomplished here, and in all that she said she endeavored to present the very practical side of the work, though she did not forget the mention of the ideals cherished by the association, for she regarded the most practical work of all as that without a heavenly vision to guide it.

Among the acquisitions of this past year Miss Tatham mentioned were the departments of physical culture and hygiene, which had been greatly augmented and had flourished exceedingly.

She revealed the interesting family secret that the smoothness of the machinery which had been complimented by others was a matter of earnest and hard work.

Many other interesting facts were told, one of which was that during this past year 250,000 people had come to the association's rooms on quest of other, 1000 common diseases, and that the results were very gratifying.

The dining-room supper was served, pretty, the brilliant lighting used in profusion, the highly polished cut glass vase containing a fragrant plant in the surface of the silver candelabra candlesticks, while red bows in a frieze of asparagus sustained, and lilies

SELF SLAYER!SAID TO HAVE THROWN HIMSELF

Pasadena and Los Angeles Man Who Had Domestic Troubles Identified by Widow from Description of Corpse in San Bernardino. Hearing of Ortiz Today at China.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 10.—It has come to light that the man who committed suicide the other day at Siam, a small way station on the line of the Santa Fe west of Needles, by throwing himself in front of a locomotive, was Maj. William Heistand of Pasadena and Los Angeles. A woman claiming to be his widow answered today, stating she had identified him from the description made certain from the absence of a toe on his right foot.

It appears the couple have been separated many months, his attentions to another woman causing estrangement. One day some weeks ago he entered a barber shop in Los Angeles, accompanied by a woman, and when seated in a chair discovered that the female barber shaving him was none other than his wife. He endeavored to force his attentions upon her, and she appealed to the police, even going so far as to obtain an order of court to restrain him.

She received a letter from him dated April 18, and scrawled on the note paper of the Westminster Hotel, which reads: "Dear Agusta: Oh my God, you do not know what trouble I am in. For, God's sake pity me. I am almost like a dog. I am in hell. I am in hell. I am in hell. This is the last time I will write to you. If this trouble I will write you so that you can come to me. Do not make complaint or I will kill myself. Pray for me. Willie."

The woman states they were married in New Orleans shortly after the Civil War, which he reached as a major, and that he was receiving $40 monthly pension. His reference to her making complaint she interprets as referring to his breach of the court's injunction by writing to her.

ORTIZ THE MURDERER?

Tomorrow morning Sheriff Ralphs will take J. Ortiz to China for preliminary hearing on the charge of having murdered Constable Bristol. The evidence is strong against the man. It appears he delayed his attack until late at night, the fatal night, and two witnesses testify he attacked them with a knife; their garments being slashed into rags. They say he is the man who was chased by Constable Bristol, which pursuit ended in the officer's death, he being stabbed eleven times.

HEEDLESS NEWSLETTERS.

Charles Henderson and Fred Garner, while standing on the running board of a team car, were struck by a guard, which had been constructed dangerously near the track, and both were thrown off and painfully injured.

Yesterday two valuable horses leased to the city backed over a thirty-foot embankment where the city is making all on D street, between Eighth and Ninth, and their backs were broken. The horses were loaded with sand and the driver, Arthur Wixom, failed to calculate the distance he was backing the team, and it shot down the embankment, throwing both horses clear over the wagon.

The driver, H. R. Butz, charged with obtaining money from the Santa Fe at needles under false pretenses, has been set for June 12. A cash bond of $300 will be offered in lieu of $100 security as fixed by the court.

David Bradford, a youth charged with robbing a woman with the person of a four-year-old girl at Upland, was arraigned this morning and pleaded not guilty. The case will be tried June 10.

The remains of Prof. W. L. Lopez, who died Monday, will be interred at the home of Isobel Lopez. After the services the body will be taken to the cemetery, and the family will be entertained.

John T. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. and Mrs. John F. Schenck, formerly a leader in the fashionable world, has been elected on an independent ticket as Mayor of Columbus, Wis. Schenck remained one winter here, and was lavish in his expenditures on social functions.

REDLANDS.

ORANGE PACKERS' STRIKE. REDLANDS. May 10.—Nearly the entire force of orange packers employed at the house of the Eclipse Orange Association went on a strike today for a raise in wages. They were receiving 2½ cents a box, and asked for 3 cents on the ground that the fruit was running so small they could not make living wages. Owing to its being near the close of the season, it is not likely the owners will be seriously handicapped by the walkout.

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS.

Plans for the observance of Memorial Day are being completed by the local G.A.R. Post. The address will be given by Rev. J. A. Marquie of the First Presbyterian Church, and on Friday before Memorial Day, patriotic address will be given in the public schools by prominent citizens.

NEWS BREVITIES.

The newly-organized lacrosse club will play its first game on Saturday, the 1st inst., with the Riverside Apaches. Mr. Meeker, one of Redlands' most prominent business men, has returned from a year's trip around the world.

C. M. Brown has resigned as director of the school of drama owing to several months' intestinal affection. C. H. Paine has been chosen as his successor.

Redlands will have a representative at the World's Fair. The Board of Education has appointed Dr. G. C. Thaxter as Secretary G. C. Thaxter for several months' stay at St. Louis during the summer.

Gov. Pardue was in Redlands this afternoon, coming over from Highland to call on friends.

RIALTO.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING. RIALTO, May 10.—The meeting of the San Bernardino Association of Congregational Churches began here this morning. The following members were present: Rev. W. N. Burr, Rev. A. C. Dodd, Rialto; E. K. Holden, San Bernardino; Rev. R. B. Larkin, Ontario; Rev. A. Le Park, Rialto; George Robertson.

Rev. J. H. Williams, D.D., Redlands; Rev. Hiram Myers, San Bernardino; Rev. J. D. Tangueman, El Cajon.

The delegates present were Mrs. A. J. Wave and Mrs. William Godfrey, Covina; G. Henales, Highland; Mrs. K. G. Robertson, Mentone; John Crawford, Ontario; Rev. A. Le Park, Rialto; Rev. H. A. Tangueman, El Cajon; Williamson, Mrs. D. B. Bailey, Rialto.

The talk of Rev. W. N. Burr upon "The King and the Kingdom," was the chief feature of the opening session.

Rev. H. A. Tangueman, district recorder of the American Board of the Pacific Coast, and President Gates of Pomona College will be the speakers at the evening session.

ONTARIO.

SCHOOL INCREASE.

ONTARIO, May 10.—The school census marshal reports an increase of thirty-two children in this district. There are now 405 boys and 338 girls, a total of 733 children, in the schools here.

Mrs. C. G. H. Benick left last night for Boston, where she will spend several weeks. While there she will attend the wedding of her son.

The Ontario basket-ball team has won the league cup by beating the Riverside girls, 11 to 5, on Saturday night.

Rev. A. E. Chapman has returned from a week's trip through the Yon-mite.

SANTA ANA.

SCHOOLHOUSE VANDALISM.

SANTA ANA, May 10.—Vandalism has been carried to such an extent by rowdies at the Tustin school that the Trustees of the district have posted notices of reward for evidence that will lead to their detection. A band of boys, believed to be made up of young fellows about the village rather than those in attendance at the school, have made a systematic practice of breaking into the schoolhouse late at night, smoking cigarettes and playing cards and winding up their money by robbing the till, much to the annoyance of all the residents within a mile.

On their latest depredation damage was done to the building and fixtures.

The notices offer a reward of $25 for information that will lead to the arrest of the culprits. There are 1200 students.

LICENSE FOR "KID."

Guy G. McConnell of Randsburg and Miss Josephine M. Petersen of Morris Hill, both aged 19 years, were married this afternoon by Justice Willson. The groom had a certificate bearing the consent of his guardian to the marriage, couched in the following language: "To the County Clerk: "Please give my regards to your wife and spank her and send him back home to me. I am his legal guardian. W. A. McCombs, Randsburg."

FIRE-ALARM SYSTEM.

The City Council last night awarded a contract for a fire-alarm system to the Signal Phone Company for $2245, in competition with a bid from the Gamewell Company, on a bid of $4120. A contract for 1000 rods of fire alarm wire will be let to the Pacific Rubber Company at 70 cents a foot.

ELECTRIC ROAD COMING.

The first piece of electric road in Orange county is completed, the line from Long Beach to Pacific City and Newport-Beach being finished for half a mile inside the Orange-county limits. The line now extends to Anaheim, the main line being a long stretch of the marshy lands about the Land-gang has been the cause of considerable slow construction work.

HERE AND THERE.

Preliminary negotiations are in progress for the sale of the Morning Dispatch to Mr. Westover, an Oregon newspaper man, who has been looking over the field. Mr. Westover contemplates continuing the sheet into a Democratic daily.

THE CONVENTION.

The annual Iowa picnic of the educators of the State opened this morning at the Potter Hotel with about 100 prominent educators in attendance.

The meeting today will be enthusiastic. James Graham of Pasadena was elected president and Hugh J. Baldwin, superintendent of San Diego county, secretary. The council as organized will consist of the following two members: George A. Gates, president, Pomona College; Arthur Chamberlain, Throop; G. S.bridge, principal Santa Paula High School; Dr. J. F. Millspaugh, Los Angeles Normal; N. F. Smith, Monrovia High School; Miss Edna Rich, Santa Barbara High School; Dr. B. Avery, Redlands High School; L. D. Durfee, Orange High School; A. N. Wheeler, superintendent Fallbrook High School; J. H. Francis, Los Angeles High School.

THE CONVENTION.

The biennial convention of the teachers of the State opened this morning at the Potter Hotel with about 100 prominent educators in attendance.

The meeting today will be enthusiastic. Dr. T. Kirk, who arrived last night, opened the session and delivered an address. He will preside over the deliberations of the superintendents as ex-officio president.

The visitors were welcomed by City Superintendent Adrian of Santa Barbara. Superintendent of Schools of the State.

An address on "The Need of Better Preparation for Boys and Girls for the Vocation They Expect to Follow" was delivered by Prof. Adrian. Dr. Leroy Anderson of the State Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo; Dr. W. E. Tamm, Superintendent of Schools, and Dr. C. C. Schenck, Superintendent on Official Visit.

One of the subjects before the convention is that of proposed changes in the State series of text-books. These will be decided exclusively to a discussion of improvements in educational service.

A DRAMA OF SINGERS.

The blue Mediterranean: the starred Italian skies;

A soft guitar, and a woman's voice,

And Love in a woman's eyes.

The spirits of the valley—the phantom of the hills—

And Shelly on the grass there—singer and dreamer still:

"I arise from dreams of thee—

In the first pale view of night;

With the winds are breathing low,

And the stars are shining bright."

The sea-loved Cami Magni, hill-walled

And blind—dumb—dise;

The stars that teach their mysteries—

Their melodies to him;

Loved English accents ringing—the dusk, the blooms a-thrill,

And Ariel echoes in the soul of Shelly, singing still:

"O lift me from the grass—

I die, I faint, I fall!

Let thy love in kisses rain

On my lips and eyelids pale!"

Then woman's song, and poet's song—

Music of years to be!

Die on the night; and weeping eyes

watch for a ship at sea,

And the breakers at their best,

And all that could die of the singer

Lie dead at the woman's feet.

O lift me from the grass—

And thick, ye laurel! strong.

When Italy holds England—

Earth—Heaven—in Shelly's song!

VENTURA, May 10.—The talk of the town is the Stone divorce case, which is on trial in the Superior Court. Mrs. Annie L. Stone is the plaintiff. Her husband, from whom she desires to be released, is Alfred N. Stone. She asks not only for separation, but for the custody of their child. When the Stones intermarried she was a widow with one child which afterward died. Three children were born to them at the ranch home from where Mrs. Stone one day ran away with her children and mother, Mrs. Reasoner, to Los Angeles.

Then Stone brought suit for the possession of his children. He alleged that his wife had left him without cause. He attributed his wife's conduct to his mother-in-law, who, it was stated, refused to allow him to see his children.

Keep the Body in Good Health

If the body is in good health, and the instincts of Nature are not suppressed, there is a proper proportion between the amount received and the amount passed out of the system. The very moment that such proportion is altered disease begins in all constitutions. Food daily eaten should furnish the nutrient for the support of the body and give aid to the bowels, enabling them to eliminate the useless material.

SAN PEDRO.

DEEP-WATER WHARF PROJECT.

SAN PEDRO, May 10.—It is probable that this city will soon consider a deep-water wharf for public purposes and of sufficient size to accommodate all kinds of commerce and transportation, and to be under the entire control of the city. It is stated that the Harbor Protective League and the Federal Labor Union have prepared resolutions to this effect, which will be presented to the City Trustees. The latter organization proposes to donate $500 for the purpose of securing a site.

I care nothing about the cost of the wharf, and never can care in the future, for I trust that the city will do its best to secure the money.

Weakness.

A doctor, who was a witness, said that he had been called to see the man, and that he was in a condition of semi-coma.

The man had been taken to the hospital by his wife, Mrs. Kerr, who was at the Alameda Junction.

The man was going at the rate of twelve miles an hour.

He had been driving for two hours, and from the looks of the way he was not instantly
